6th Annual Orange Dance Festival, Sunday April 30

On Sunday, April 30, the Orange Dance Conservatory will present the 6th Annual Orange Dance Festival, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at Lincoln Avenue School. The festival, for dance enthusiasts from age 6 to adults, offers lovers of dance a chance to take a full day of classes, in a variety of dance styles, and meet and learn from some of the top Master Dance Educators in the field. The festival also offers live dance program scholarship auditions and dance artist panels where students get a better understanding of what it is like to work as a professional dancer or dance educator. Also, just added to the list of performers is Jayla Marie, from The Rap Game, along with King Jafi Rock. Classes include, hip hop, jazz, tap, ballet, African, contemporary, acting and much more. The cost for the festival is $20 for Orange district students and staff with the proper ID and $40 for all others. Click here to register. For more information visit the district website at www.orange.k12.nj.us or see flyer below for details.

Orange to Participate in Jeans For Troops Day on May 25

The Jeans for Troops program is a dress down day that employers hold to benefit the GI Go Fund. The Orange Public School District has participated in this program for the past five years and will again take part in the GI Go Fund's Memorial Day fundraiser for our veterans. The GI Go Fund is an IRS recognized 501(c)(3) nonprofit charity that has promoted Jeans for Troops Drives honoring our military men and women all across America. On May 25, participating staff members will donate $5 and students will donate $1 to support our veterans. Each participant will receive a Jeans for Troops sticker to be worn as they dress down in jeans on Jeans for Troops Day. Since the program began, over 5,000 schools, companies, and government agencies have raised money for this invaluable program. All funds collected go to support the GI Go Fund's mission of helping veterans find employment, go to college, find their benefits, and link to housing assistance. See flyer below.

Blacklight Party at Orange High School

Contributed by Ms. Fernanda Martin, Graphics Arts teacher, Orange High School

The Orange High School Student Council and the Graphic Arts Crew hosted an exciting “Blacklight Party” fundraiser, on April 13. During the event, the graphic arts students ran a long exposure photography shoot for those in attendance. The technique, whereby the photographers kept the background dark and used led lights to create desired patterns, created stunning effects and produced lasting images.

Ms. Fernanda Martin, graphics arts teacher and club advisor, stated in a presentation recapping the event, “Congratulations to the entire Graphic Arts Crew! Your imagination, planning and commitment to rehearsing until your vision was fully executed made this creative event possible,” She also noted special thanks to several individuals including Student Council President Franca Estimable for her “endless enthusiasm and drive” along with Student Council Advisor, Ms. Naheela Irving for her “dedication and planning,” and assisting with the procurement of equipment for the Graphics Arts Crew. Principal Jason Belton was also acknowledged for ensuring that the students had needed supplies for the event.

The Celebration of Engineering Week Returns to Heywood Avenue School

Submitted by Mr. Gerald Murphy, Assistant Principal, Heywood Avenue School

Heywood Avenue School continued its tradition of celebrating Engineering Week. The festivities took place during the week of February 27, 2017. Throughout the week, the Heywood Avenue School students were able to participate in discussion and presentations that served to illuminate how the S.T.E.M. skills they have been developing in school are applied to solving “real-world” problems. This year also saw the implementation of a Girls Day that celebrated the accomplishments of women in the field of engineering. An array of presenters visited the school to join the celebration including students currently studying engineering, individuals working in a variety of engineering fields, as well as engineering professors. The presenters also allowed the students to learn the skills necessary to prepare themselves to pursue engineering as a major in college.

During the school year Heywood Avenue School students have been immersing themselves in S.T.E.M. related investigations via such programs as the Project Lead the Way curriculum, coding classes, the Robotics Club, and Google Classroom assignments. The students' investigations prepared them to participate in discussions with presenters that represented a variety of fields: game design and production, civil, mechanical, and chemical engineering, and architecture. There were also a number of university students that volunteered their time from Rutgers University, American University, Stevens Institute of Technology, and New Jersey Institute of Technology.

The success of the event was augmented by Mr. Xavier Lee and students from Orange High School. The OHS students shared the important skills that they are developing through the classes that they are taking to prepare them to pursue S.T.E.M. related professions. Mr. Lee and his students also discussed strategies that students have employed as they have progressed from middle school through high school allowing them to reach their goals, and be positioned to achieve academic success.

Heywood Avenue School would like to extend a special thanks to Mr. Xavier Lee of Orange High School, as well as Director of Math and Science Dr. Tina Powell and Mr. Frank Tafur for their help in planning the event and making it a success. The week would also not have been a success without the many presenters that volunteered their time, and the Engineering Week Committee at Heywood that included Assistant Principal Mr. Gerald Murphy, STEM Teacher Mr. Kevin Rutz, and School Technology Coordinator Mr. Anthony St. Jean.

Mr. Terrence Thornhill, strings instructor for the Orange Public School District, is featured in the SOPAC Now, Spring 2017 newsletter for the South Orange Performing Arts Center (SOPAC). Mr. Thornhill was recently selected to participate in a new SOPAC music residency. The article, as it appears in the newsletter, is shown on the right.

Terrence Thornhill Infuses Music Classes With Love and Respect

Creating an atmosphere of love and respect in a safe environment for his students is at the top of Terrence Thornhill's personal mission as a teacher. He is a teacher in the Orange School District and will be part of a new SOPAC music residency, funded by the Frank and Lydia Bergen Foundation, that will partner him with a teaching artist.

Terrence grew up in Maplewood and attended school in the SOMA district. In high school he turned his career aspirations towards playing the cello, and becoming a music teacher. Mentored by the high school teachers who helped him further his studies, he eventually attended Montclair State University and studied with Nicholas Tzavaras of the Shanghai Quartet.

As a teaching artist, Terrence combines a flourishing performing schedule with teaching his young students. When asked about what inspired him he stated, "One of my favorite memories is performing for the first time at Union County Performing Arts Center with my Paterson Music Project Students for their first concert ever. These second-graders learned their violin, viola and cellos in two months and delivered an incredible and important performance. They premiered a piece commissioned for them and shared the stage with the New Jersey Youth Symphony. To see the looks on the faces of their parents, and to experience their joy in that performance, truly confirmed for me that I'm doing exactly what I'm supposed to be doing." 😊
