October 1, 2012 Kicks-Off the Orange Public School District 25 Book Challenge, "Pages for All Ages"

READY, SET, READ!

Orange Public Schools
presents the

PAGES FOR ALL AGES
25 BOOK CHALLENGE!

October 1, 2012 - May 31, 2013

The district's 25 Book Challenge, "Pages for All Ages" officially kicks-off on Monday, October 1, 2012. Students, families, and community members will be challenged to read 25 or more books now through May 31, 2012. Students in Grades Pre-K may have books read to them to qualify, while students in Kindergarten and First grade will read independently beginning in January 2013. All other students are expected to read chapter books for the challenge.

Schools are gearing up for the 25 Book challenge. Lincoln Avenue School had a kick-off on Friday, September 28, with student performances, and pledges to participate. Cleveland Street School, who accumulated the most readers last year, also sent pledge notices to families to get a higher rate of participation.

The reading challenge is beneficial to improving the academic strength of students, with an aim of boosting reading levels and comprehension, however, the benefits don't stop there. Incentives and recognition will be given based upon the books entered into the Book Challenge database. Book tickets will be available in all school libraries, the Orange Public Library, and via download. On May 31, 2013, the database will be closed to new entries. The Orange Prize Patrol will be back on the road in June 2013 to recognize the efforts of all students and schools.

Orange High School Ranked the 5th Most Improved High School in New Jersey

Orange High School students have shown significant growth over the past four years, according to an annual New Jersey Public High School ranking compiled and reported in New Jersey Monthly magazine. The August 17, 2012 publication ranked Orange High School (OHS) as the 5th most improved high school in New Jersey. The rankings were based on data reported by the district to the Department of Education for the 2010-2011 school year. OHS has moved from being ranked 315 in the state to a position of 232, representing an improvement of 83 places for the analysis period.

"This significant improvement is a testament to the hard work by our school staff and students, our administrative team, and a supporting community,” said Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Ronald C. Lee.

The school’s upgrade is largely driven by the improved High School Proficiency Assessment (HSPA) scores for Orange High School. This past school year, 75.5 percent of all OHS juniors scored as proficient or advanced proficient on the language arts portion of the test, while 45.5 percent scored proficient or advanced proficient on the math segment.

These numbers are significant for the district whose scores have increased steadily over the past four years:

OHS HSPA Scores – Percent Proficient/Advanced Proficient
2009 - 2012

As previously reported by the school district, the 2012 HSPA results are even more significant when the HSPA scores are presented for general education students. When those classified as special education students and students with Limited English Proficiency (LEP) are excluded from the total student population scores, 90.8 percent of students scored proficient or advanced proficient in language arts and 58.6 percent scored proficient or advanced proficient in mathematics.

Orange High School is making great strides in its quest to perform equally with their suburban counterparts that have higher socioeconomic classifications. None are more pleased that the principals of Orange High School, Co-Principals, Ms. Faith Alcantara and Ms. Kalisha Morgan, both graduates of OHS and former elementary school principals within the district. They have been in their current positions for one year.

Both attribute the rise in the school’s ranking to the push to offer students afterschool tutoring, SAT and HSPA preparation courses, a variety of extracurricular activities including Robotics, Foreign Language Clubs, Visual and Performing Arts Clubs and organizations and athletics. Orange High School’s athletic program mandates that all participating students attend tutoring sessions.

“We have expanded our academic support services for students to give them an opportunity to excel,” said Co-Principal, Ms. Faith Alcantara. Students have an individualized plan that provides them with a clear path to prepare for their future beyond high school. Ms. Alcantara adds, “Every Orange High School graduate will leave, either going to a 4 yr. college, 2 yr. college, technical school, the military, or to gainful full time employment.” To facilitate workplace readiness, students are supported through vocational training, which will soon include a state of the art culinary program. Further, students are afforded a technology infrastructure to assist them in developing 21st century skills and to provide access to resources to guide their individualized plan. All Orange High School students have school email addresses and families have access to Naviance (a web based career exploration and college preparation tool) and Genesis Student Information System through the Parent/Student Portal, to make both parents and students more knowledgeable and accountable for their plans.

“We are offering students more options and courses for graduation and better equipping students for today’s job market,” states Co-Principal, Ms. Kalisha Morgan. Orange High School is offering more Advanced Placement (AP) classes and dual credit courses.

“Our partnership with Seton Hall, Montclair State and Kean universities, as well as Essex County College, gives many of our students the opportunity to take college credit courses while still in high school and to experience the rigors of higher education.”

“While we still have more work to do, we are very pleased with Orange High School’s progress and congratulate our staff and students for their efforts. Our schools are all positioned to support our drive for increased academic excellence and we are pleased with the acknowledgement of our hard work,” said Superintendent Lee.

Orange Represented at the NBC Education Nation's Teacher Town Hall

Holly Gamble, Special Education Master Teacher for the Orange Public School District, was honored to be one of 300 teachers invited from across the nation to participate in NBC's Education Nation Summit. The third annual event covered three-days of dialog about education by the country's "thought leaders in education, government, business, philanthropy and media".

On Sunday, September 23, Ms. Gamble was a guest at Education Nation's 2012 Teacher Town Hall. The event covered three days and included the two-hour "Teacher Town Hall" held at the New York Public Library.

The Teacher Town Hall aired live on MSNBC. It was moderated by news anchor Brian Williams and featured national correspondent Tamaron Hall and TODAY Show contributing correspondent Jenna Bush Hager. Topics discussed included teacher effectiveness, poverty as it relates to student performance, the Common Core State Standards and parent involvement.

The theme of this year's event was "finding solutions to today's educational issues. Ms. Gamble and other National Board Certified teachers were invited to attend by The National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS). Ms. Gamble represented Orange Public Schools and NBPTS. She works closely with the National Board and is a member of The DREAM Team (Direct Efforts to Recruit Minorities and a Candidate Support Provider/Mentor to other teachers pursuing National Board Certification. Ms. Gamble mentors teachers in Orange pursuing their certification. "I was proud and honored to have been included in a national dialogue about education," said Ms. Gamble. "It was a thought provoking, interesting and valuable experience."

Forest Street Welcomes Students and Families at Three Very Important Events

Forest Street School Starts the New School Year Right!

On September 17th and 18th, Forest Street School welcomed parents for Back to School Night! On September 17th, parents of Forest's Pre-K through fourth grade students attended this exciting event. On September 18th, parents of Forest's fifth through seventh grade students attended despite the inclement weather conditions. On both nights, parents met veteran and new staff members and learned of the great things that Forest's Family has in store for the upcoming year! In addition to meeting the staff, parents had the opportunity to register to vote. Forest's staff and parents came out to show their support and helped to make the new start of the school year one for the books! Go Team Forest!

Calling All Grandparents!

On September 21st, Forest Street School invited students' grandparents to celebrate and honor them! In the weeks leading up to this cherished annual event, classroom teachers had their students write a letter (the lower grades also provided an illustration) to their grandparents. With the help of Ms. Peters, Ms. Giordano and other staff members, students were selected to represent each class. These students were then able to share their letter and illustration with all of the grandparents and students. Grandparents were treated to breakfast and had the opportunity to take a "professional picture," with their grandchild(ren) by Forest's own Mr. Veloz. It was a truly wonderful event that was enjoyed by all!

Forest Celebrates the New School Year with a Kick-Off!

On September 21st, Forest Street School jump-started the year with its annual "Back to School Kick-Off"! From 3:00 – 5:00 p.m., students, parents, and staff enjoyed the opportunity to "kick-back" and to "kick-off" the new school year. Students, parents and staff enjoyed the beautiful afternoon with music, dancing, karaoke, and great food! We would like to thank all of our Forest Street School Families that donated food and their time to make this event a great success! Seeing parents, staff, and students working together while having fun is setting the tone for an awesome school year. GO TEAM FOREST!

Back To School Night at Orange High School, CIAO and Orange Preparatory Academy

During this past week Orange Public Schools hosted its remaining Back to School Nights providing parents with the opportunity to learn more about their child's schools, their teachers, and the instruction their children will receive in each of their classes. At the various Back to School Nights there was also an opportunity for each school's leadership team to acquaint parents with the school's policies, procedures, and administration. Additionally, there were informational tables offering parents and students voter registration and registration for the various parent/student/teacher organizations. The Back to School Nights took place as follows:

- Orange High School – September 25, 2012, from 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
- Career and Innovation Academy of Orange (CIAO) – September 26, 2012, from 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
- Orange Preparatory Academy – September 27, 2012, from 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.

At Orange High School students and parents heard about senior graduation pictures, visited the library where the Parent Student Teacher Organization (PTSO) offered refreshments, and parents received information from a local physician. There were school service displays including OHS Space.

At CIAO, parents toured the facility and received information about the school's commitment to the students and plans for the year.

At Orange Preparatory Academy, teachers, students and parents heard opening remarks from Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Ronald C. Lee, saw a presentation from the newly appointed principal, Mr. Darrell Medley and were introduced to his administrative team: Assistant Principals, Shadin Belal, Noel Cruz and Samantha Sica Fossella. Parents were able to sign up for the PTSO and received information about the Small Learning Communities, healthcare and the Male Student Support Program.

Orange Athletics Present Cancer Awareness Recognition Day, October 5, 2012

Through Orange High School Athletics, under the direction of Assistant Principal, Mr. Jason Green, Orange Public Schools will again participate in raising funds for Cancer Awareness with its annual Pink-Out Day and football game, scheduled for Friday, October 5, 2012. Last year the district raised $3,000, which was donated to the American Cancer Society, totaling $9,000 contributed in three years.

In support of this effort, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Ronald C. Lee has authorized a dress down day to raise funds for this worthy cause. Students who wish to participate and not wear their uniforms will be asked to make a $1 donation. Employees are asked to make a $5 donation. Further, the day will culminate with the Pink-Out football game where the Orange High School Tornadoes will play Millburn High School at 7:00 p.m. at Bell Stadium. T-shirts will be sold during the week and at the stadium and all who purchase and don the OHS pink cancer awareness shirt will gain free entry to the football game. Shirts purchased last year and worn the night of the game, will also gain fans free entry.
