In this module, students explore the issue of working conditions, both historical and modern day. As they read and discuss both literary and informational text, students analyze how people, settings, and events interact in a text and how an author develops a central claim. Students strengthen their ability to discuss specific passages from a text with a partner, write extended text-based argument and informational pieces, and conduct a short research project. At the end of the module, students will have a better understanding of how working conditions affect workers and the role that workers, the government, consumers, and businesses play in improving working conditions. The first unit focuses on Lyddie, a novel that tells the story of a young girl who goes to work in the Lowell mills, and explores the issue of working conditions in industrializing America. This unit builds students' background knowledge about working conditions and how they affect workers, and centers on the standard RL.7.3, which is about how plot, character, and setting interact in literature. As an end of unit assessment, students write an argument essay about Lyddie's choices regarding her participation in the protest over working conditions. The second unit moves to more recent history and considers the role that workers, the government, and consumers all play in improving working conditions. The central text in Unit 2 is a speech by César Chávez, in which he explains how the United Farm Workers empowered farmworkers. Unit 2 focuses on reading informational text, and students practice identifying central ideas in a text, analyzing how an author develops his claims, and identifying how the sections of the text combine to build those ideas. This unit intentionally builds on Odell Education's work, and if teachers have already used the Chávez speech and lessons, an alternate text is suggested with which to teach the same informational text standards. In the End of Unit 2 Assessment, students apply their understanding of text structure to a new speech. Unit 3 focuses on the research standards (W.7.7 and W.7.8): through an investigation of working conditions in the modern day garment industry, students explore how businesses can affect working conditions, both positively and negatively. As a final performance task, students create a consumer's guide to working conditions in the garment industry. This teenage consumer's guide provides an overview of working conditions and offers advice to consumers who are interested in working conditions in the garment industry. This task focuses on NJSLs W.7.2a, b, d, f, W.7.4, W.7.6, W.7.7, W.7.8, L.7.3, and L.7.6

Guiding Questions And Big Ideas

- What are working conditions, and why do they matter?
- How do workers, the government, business, and consumers bring about change in working conditions?
- How does reading one section of a text closely help me understand it better?
- How can you tell the difference between a useful and a not useful research question?
- How does a speaker develop and organize his central claim?
- Working conditions include multiple factors and have significant impacts on the lives of workers.
- Workers, the government, businesses, and consumers can all bring about change in working conditions.
- Closely reading and discussing one excerpt of a longer text helps to deepen your understanding of the text as a whole.
- Effective researchers ask relevant questions, gather information from several sources, keep track of their findings and sources, and synthesize their findings into coherent products.

Performance Task

Consumer's Guide to Working Conditions in the Garment Industry

This task centers on NJSLS W.7.2a, b, d, f, W.7.4, W.7.6, W.7.7, W.7.8, L.7.3, and L.7.6. Building on their focus on working conditions in the mills from Unit 1, students research working conditions in the modern-day garment industry in order to create a “Consumer’s Guide to Working Conditions in the Garment Industry.” First, students individually complete a Researcher’s Notebook in which they track their questions and take notes. As the end of Unit 3 Assessment, they write a synthesis of their research findings. For the performance task, students work with a partner to create a teenage consumer’s guide that draws on their research. They publish this document in a printed or electronic format selected by the teacher.

Content Connections

- This module is designed to address English Language Arts standards. However, the module intentionally incorporates Social Studies and science content that may align to additional teaching during other parts of the day. These intentional connections are described below.

Organizing Students' Papers

Throughout the module, students work with note-catchers, Reader's Notes, and other handouts that hold their thinking. Students will need to be able to use these over multiple days. Consider what organizational structures in your class might support your students in keeping track of these papers.

Media and Special Materials

- In Unit 1, you will show the students clips of a video on several occasions. Mill Times (David MacAulay) is the suggested video, so consider looking for it now. If you are unable to use this video, the Unit 1 overview suggests several free public access alternatives.
- In Unit 2, the lesson plan suggests that you read aloud part of a picture book called Harvesting Hope, by Kathleen Krull. Consider looking at the library for this book in advance. Alternate resources are listed in the Unit 3 Overview and in Unit 3, Lesson 1.
- As students' final performance task during Unit 3, they will publish their brochure about working conditions in the garment industry today. Ideally, students will publish their work in an electronic format, but they could publish in print. The choice is up to you, and depends on the resources available at your school. This unit will go more smoothly if you choose the format of this project before you begin Unit 3 and make a model (using the text and resources provided with Unit 3) in that format. See the stand-alone Performance Task document on EngageNY.org for more details about possible formats.

Computers

In Unit 1, Lessons 18 and 20 and in much of Unit 3 (research and publishing a final project), it would be helpful to provide students with computer access. Consider the facilities in your school and think about how you can make that possible. Alternatives are provided for schools and teachers without access to technology, but the work in Unit 3 is designed to address the technology standard (W.7.6).

Close Reading

This module introduces a new Close Reading Guide (for teacher reference), which you will find as a supporting material in many lessons that involve close reading. This guide was developed in order to streamline the detailed lesson agenda and provide an easy "cheat sheet" for teachers to use to guide instruction of lessons that involve close reading and text-dependent questions. The guide includes not only the questions to ask students, but how to pace, when to probe, and where to provide additional scaffolding.

Independent Reading

This module introduces a more robust independent reading structure after students have finished reading Lyddie (i.e., at the start of Unit 2). Consider scheduling a week between Unit 1 and Unit 2 to launch independent reading. Alternatively, you could lengthen the time for Unit 2 and intersperse the independent reading lessons into the first part of the unit. See two separate stand-alone documents on EngageNY.org: The Importance of Increasing the Volume of Reading and Launching Independent Reading in Grades 6–8: Sample Plan, which together provides the rationale and practical guidance for a robust independent reading program. Once students have all learned how to select books and complete the reading log, it takes less class time. After the launch period, the independent reading routine takes about  $\frac{1}{2}$  class period per week, with an additional day near the end of a unit or module for students to review and share their books. Units 2 and 3 include time to maintain the independent reading routine (calendared into the lessons). But you may wish to review the independent reading materials now to give yourself time to gather texts and to make a launch plan that meets your students' needs.

Module 2A: Assessments

Performance Task	Consumer’s Guide to Working Conditions in the Garment Industry This task centers on NJSLs W.7.2a, b, d, f, W.7.4, W.7.6, W.7.7, W.7.8, L.7.3, and L.7.6. Building on their focus on working conditions in the mills from Unit 1, students research working conditions in the modern-day garment industry in order to create a “Consumer’s Guide to Working Conditions in the Garment Industry.” First, students individually complete a Researcher’s Notebook in which they track their questions and take notes. As the end of Unit 3 Assessment, they write a synthesis of their research findings. For the performance task, students work with a partner to create a teenage consumer’s guide that draws on their research. They publish this document in a printed or electronic format selected by the teacher.
Mid-unit 1 Assessment	How Working Conditions Affected Lyddie This assessment centers on NJSLs RL.7.1 and RL.7.3. This is a reading assessment: The purpose is for students to demonstrate their ability to cite textual evidence when explaining how the plot, characters, and setting of a novel interact. The assessment will focus on a section of text that the class has not yet analyzed. Students will complete selected- and constructed-response items that assess their ability to analyze the text, focusing specifically on how working conditions affect
End of unit 1 Assessment	Argument Essay about Lyddie Students will plan, draft, and revise an argument essay that responds to the prompt: “After reading through Chapter 17 of Lyddie , write an argument essay that addresses the question: Should Lyddie sign the petition that Diana Goss is circulating? Support your position with evidence from the novel. Be sure to acknowledge competing views, and refer only to information and events in the book, not what you know because you live in 2013.” This assessment has two parts. Part 1 is students’ best on-demand draft and centers on NJSLs RL.7.1, RL.7.3, W.7.1, and W.7.9a. This draft will be assessed using a rubric before students receive teacher feedback so that their individual understanding of the texts and their writing skills can be observed. Part 2 is students’ final draft, revised after teacher feedback, and is assessed on standards L.7.1, L.7.2, and W.7.5. The lesson sequence and grading rationale for this assessment is similar to that in Module 1, Unit 2. Over several lessons, students review a model argument essay and the rubric (used in Module 1, and here adapted to argument writing specifically), explore the prompt, form evidence-based claims, organize the essay, and write the essay.

Mid-unit 2 Assessment	How Chávez Develops His Claims in the Commonwealth Club Address <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• This assessment centers on NJSLs RI.7.1, RI.7.2, RI.7.3, and RI.7.5. This is a reading assessment: Students complete selected-response items to demonstrate their ability to identify a claim and how it is developed. The assessment will focus on a section of Chávez’s Commonwealth Club Address that the class has not yet analyzed.</li><li>• Alternate Mid-Unit 2 Assessment: For classes that have already read Chávez’s Commonwealth Club Address (as a part of the stand-alone Odell Education unit), an alternate Chávez speech is suggested for Unit 2: “Statement at Pacific Lutheran University,” March 1989. To create an alternate Mid-Unit 2 Assessment, examine the fully developed assessment in Lesson 5 (which focuses on the Commonwealth Club Address) and use this as a model to create a similar assessment based on a section of the alternate Chávez speech.</li></ul>
End of unit 2 Assessment	Analyzing the Structure of Chávez’s “Wrath of Grapes” Speech This assessment centers on NJSLs RI.7.1, RI.7.2, RI.7.3, and RI.7.5, with an emphasis on RI.7.5. Students read “Wrath of Grapes,” another speech by Chávez (edited for length), and answer selected- and constructed-response questions about its central claim, how that claim is developed, and how each section of the speech relates to that central claim.
Mid-Unit 3 Assessment	Gathering Relevant Information and Generating Additional Research Questions This task focuses on NJSLs W.7.7 and touches on W.7.8. After conducting initial research on working conditions in the garment industry, students complete an on-demand task in which they read a new text, consider how it addresses their research question, and identify possible additional research questions raised by the text.
End of Unit 3 Assessment	Writing a Research Synthesis This task focuses on NJSLs W.7.7 and W.7.8. After students complete their research on working conditions in the garment industry, they will synthesize their findings (from their finished researcher’s notebooks) into several paragraphs in which they acknowledge their sources.
