

Speak

Click  and then click where you want to start speaking, or highlight the text you want spoken and click

Dear Guy Who Just Made My Burrito:

Have you ever been to Earth?

On Earth, we use the word "burrito" to describe a tortilla filled with things you eat. Pretty simple stuff, and I'm

 Never miss a story from Darin Ross GET UPDATE

Screenshot reader

If you can't select the text, no worries, screenshot it. Click  and draw a box around the text.

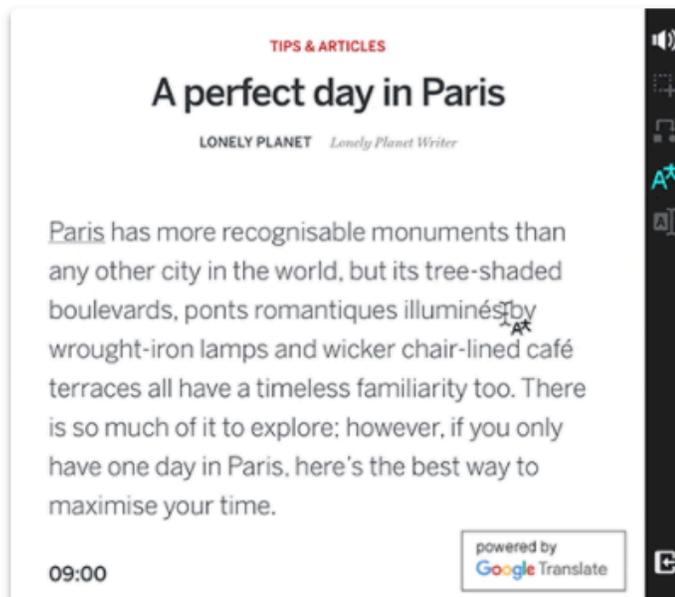

Simplify

Want to simplify difficult passages and vocabulary? Click  and then click where you want to start simplifying text, or highlight the text you want simplified and click

Translate

If your primary language is not English, use the "Options" to set your primary language. Then click  and select the text you want translated, or highlight the text you want translated and click

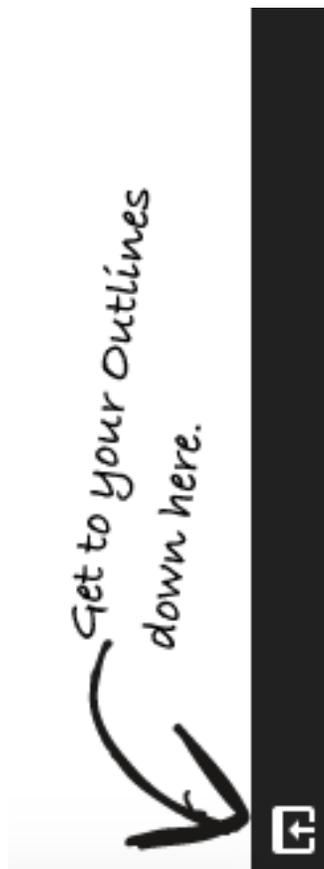

Capture

Create outlines, organize information, highlight text, and cite sources. Drag and drop from your outline makes writing easy.

The screenshot shows a mobile application interface. On the left, there is a preview of a webpage article titled "How to teach a young introvert" by Kate Torgewick, dated Sep 2, 2014. The article includes an illustration of children in a classroom and a section titled "WHAT MAKES A GOOD EDUCATION?". On the right, there is a sidebar with a blue header "How to teach a young" and a search icon. Below the header, there are two tabs: "OUTLINE" and "SOURCES". Under the "OUTLINE" tab, there is a list of three items, each with a blue dot and a link to "deas.ted.com/2017":

- "How to teach a young introvert" (deas.ted.com/2017)
- "What should we do with the quiet kids?" (deas.ted.com/2017)
- "Susan Cain sticks up for the introverts of the world" (deas.ted.com/2017)

COLOR

Text Color

Word Highlight Color

SPEAK

Alex

Autospeak

On

TEXT COMPLEXITY

Show Readability in Icon

On

PRIMARY LANGUAGE - TRANSLATION

Spanish

Diego

